When the user input first letter in search box, it drops down a list of products like this:

User can choose any products that he likes, and it will redirect user to detail of that product, here I have no detail page

In order to run my web, you have to config port 8888, and directory as below picture. Actually, I hard code some url, I will fix it in the next lab